

Medical Technocrats have succeeded in destroying the medical system in America as a mass exodus of seasoned doctors and nurses flee the industry. This destruction started long before COVID with “evidence-based” medicine where unseen Technocrats dictated treatment for patients they had never seen or cared about. When the COVID pandemic hit, ethical medical personnel were forced out. -- Technology News Editor

The U.S. Medical System is Collapsing after Mass Exodus of Doctors and Nurses by Brian Shilhavy, Editor, Health Impact News November 14, 2022

I’m a practicing ER nurse of 25 years. The amount of blood clots, strokes, cardiac events like myocarditis/pericarditis, Bell’s Palsy, shingles, etc. that I’ve seen since the vaccine rollout is more than I’ve ever seen in the previous 23.5 years combined.

I don’t know how anyone can’t be frightened by what we are seeing. When I try to discuss this with my coworkers, they turn their heads and look downcast, but will rarely speak.

I think it’s because like me, they feel betrayed for following the narrative, but unlike me they won’t open their eyes and speak out (they’re afraid for their careers and also are scared to death that their bodies are ticking time bombs). It’s easier to ignore than to acknowledge. –

The fact that there is a crisis in the U.S. medical system is not in dispute, as even the corporate media has been covering this since 2021, as many hospital Emergency Rooms across the U.S. have either closed down completely, or reduced their hours, due to lack of staffing.

One of the most recent closings happened at Wellstar’s Atlanta Medical Center in Southwest Atlanta, a predominantly Black community. (Source.)

Earlier this month (November 2022) a group of medical organizations that include the American Medical Association and American Psychiatric Association warned President Biden that hospital emergency departments were reaching a “breaking point” as they deal with influxes of patients seeking beds that are not available.

“Our nation’s safety net is on the verge of breaking beyond repair; EDs are gridlocked and overwhelmed with patients waiting — waiting to be seen; waiting for admission to an inpatient bed in the hospital; waiting to be transferred to psychiatric, skilled nursing, or other specialized facilities; or, waiting simply to return to their nursing home,” the groups said in their letter to Biden. (Source.)

A report from commercial intelligence company Definitive Healthcare earlier this month stated that 334,000 physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants and other clinicians left the workforce in 2021.

Physicians experienced the largest loss, with 117,000 professionals leaving the workforce in 2021, followed by nurse practitioners, with 53,295 departures, and physician assistants, with 22,704 departures. About 22,000 physical therapists also left the healthcare workforce and 15,500 licensed clinical social workers, according to a report from commercial intelligence company Definitive Healthcare.

Among physician specialties, the biggest declines were seen within internal medicine, family practice and emergency medicine fields. “Like clinicians and registered nurses, providers in these three specialties frequently worked on the frontlines during the pandemic, risking exposure and facing many of the same pressures and stressors as described earlier,” the report authors wrote.

In 2021, 15,000 internal medicine doctors left the workforce, followed by 13,015 providers who left family practice and 10,874 who left clinical psychology.

Definitive Healthcare’s report leverages data from more than 2 million physicians and nurses, 9,200 hospitals and IDNs and 128,000 physician groups. (Source.)

While statistics for 2022 are not available yet as the year has not yet finished, a survey conducted back in March this year revealed that one third of the nation’s nurses were planning on leaving their jobs in 2022. (Source.)

Becker Hospital Review reported today that cash reserves, an important indicator of financial stability, are dropping for hospitals and health systems across the U.S. (Source.) Fewer staff to treat patients equals less customers which leads to lost revenue.

These are facts that nobody is disputing.

However, when we look at the reasons why these medical staff have left their jobs, there appear to be certain reasons that are not allowed to be mentioned or discussed in the corporate news media. The usual reasons that corporate news media give, which are heavily funded by Big Pharma, are: “retirement, burnout and pandemic-related stressors.”

What is never addressed, however, is how many of these medical professionals, most of whom were mandated to take the experimental COVID-19 vaccines, have died or were disabled following the COVID-19 shots.

As we have previously reported, sources in Canada have already found over 80 doctors who have died following the COVID-19 shots. See:

The other reason that is never reported in the corporate news, is the emotional and mental state of medical professionals who still work in the system, and who have come to realize what these deadly shots actually do, but are too afraid to speak out.

Fortunately, some have dared to speak out, such as nurse Susan Pace who I quoted at the beginning of this article from a forum for medical professionals on Medscape. This forum is a rare place on the Internet where medical professionals have spoken out on the injuries and deaths following the COVID-19 shots, as medical professionals were among the first to be injected with these experimental “vaccines,” and many have gone there to look for help in overcoming their injuries.

We covered many of their testimonies in June of last year:

The Conejo Guardian, an independent news organization in Ventura County, California, has also given a voice to some of these medical professionals who have spoken out regarding the injuries they have seen following COVID injections that we have republished:

Time to Leave the Corrupt Medical System

The medical system is collapsing, and there is no possible way to reform it or save it without dealing with the corruption in the system, starting with the criminal COVID-19 vaccines.

Most of those who know the truth about the COVID-19 vaccines and how deadly they are, have already left the system. Therefore, the ones that remain are mostly pro-vaccine, or not willing to sacrifice their careers to take a stand against the criminal corruption that unleashed the COVID-19 vaccines onto the public.

No wonder the nation’s hospitals and Emergency Rooms are overcrowded, or being forced to close. The reason is as plain as day, but the corporate media won’t report it.

And there are no political or judicial solutions to this problem, as both the Democrats and the Republicans are pro-vaccine, as is the U.S. Supreme Court. Big Pharma owns them.

You will not find relief there.

The only option left is to stop using the medical system. The system for the most part does not heal anyone anyway, as that is a terrible business model.

It is a very profitable “disease management” system, and the depth of corruption that exists within it has been completely exposed by the COVID-19 scam, as literally tens of thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of doctors and medical professionals around the world successfully treated the symptoms of COVID-19 with a near 100% success rate using older drugs already in the market, as well as natural remedies.

The entire system is collapsing, so this is a good time to start learning how to take care of your own health without relying on the “experts” who have sold their souls to remain in a very evil business.

As the system collapses, new economic opportunities will arise for those who still have a soul and a conscience, to provide alternatives, especially in trauma care.

But it will be a huge fight, because the Globalists will not just stand by and allow this to happen. It will take a significant portion of the population to be willing to support new private businesses who separate themselves from government funding like Medicare and Medicaid. And once insurance companies wake up and admit that the most profitable people to insure are those who rejected the COVID vaccines, opportunities will arise to make private health services more affordable as well.

Sadly, very few will take this advice. Too many are still waiting for a savior, like Donald Trump or Ron DeSantis, to come in and fix everything.

It’s not going to happen. But if you haven’t figured that out by now, you probably never will. As you continue to use and trust in the medical system, your chances of dying in an over-crowded emergency room somewhere will continue to increase.

The Great Reset is coming, and those who know how to take care of their own health and not trust the evil and corrupt medical system, but instead put their trust in the One who can truly heal, will endure the hardships that are coming much better than those who do not.

Bless the LORD, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits, who forgives all your iniquity, who heals all your diseases, who redeems your life from the pit, who crowns you with steadfast love and mercy, who satisfies you with good so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's. (Psalm 103:2-5)
